The Library tries to maintain a current collection of style guides for all citation styles used on Campus. Our collection includes:

- AMA
- ASA
- MLA
- ACS
- APA
- CSE
- Chicago
- CSE
- Bluebook

If you don’t see your acronym listed here, please contact libraryorders@sjfc.edu and let us know.

Citation Management

We have added Web of Science to our Database collection and with it came EndNote Web. Endnote Web is a web-based version of the popular Endnote software used for citation management.

Access Endnote Web through the Lavery Library Homepage > Cite a Source.

Endnote Web works seamlessly with Web of Science and Ebscohost databases like CINAHL, Academic Search Complete and MLA.

DOI

Many articles are now assigned a DOI at the point of publication. It is a unique string of numbers and letters that represent a single article, like a social security number for an article.

An example from a 2011 Critical Care Nurse article.

10.4037/ccn2011463

Not sure how and when to include the DOI in a citation? This flowchart helps with DOIs, URLs and database names.

USE THE DOI TO FIND FULL TEXT

Have a DOI? Use the library’s Find Journals page to find full text.

Subject Guides

Subject Guides are great starting places for your students. You can even link to them from your BlackBoard page. We can also create subject guides for specific courses or assignments. Contact your liaison for more information. Here are some new, multidisciplinary guides:

- Digital Media  Lavery Library provides many digital media resources for use in the classroom and for research. Use this guide to help you explore these resources.
- Citation Resources  A guide to bibliographic citation formats and citation management tools.
- Technology FAQ  This guide should provide you a better understanding of technologies in the library.
- Copyright Information  This subject guide is a resource to help faculty, staff and students make informed decisions regarding copyright use.
- Inter-Library Loan  Can't find what you need at Lavery Library? We can help you get it. Inter-Library Loan materials not in Lavery Library and watch your research possibilities become endless!

Did You Know?

- This semester Lavery Librarians spent 90.5 hours assisting faculty with research?
- Since 2010, the number of unfilled Interlibrary Loan requests has been reduced 69%?
- The Library supported the SWAV Food Drive by collecting food donations instead of fines in November?

Coming Soon!

Beginning 01/2012, we will increase access to journals published by Wiley. Lavery Library continually searches for ways to improve service to you. We will be replacing the link in the Library Resources list with on-demand access to a broader range of titles from Wiley journals via a speedy ILL process. In fact, we can send Wiley articles to your sjfc.edu email in as little as three hours!
